3 Behaviour

While most watches tell you the time, with this watch, time tells you. When wearing, the watch, time moves slower for everything around it. From an outsiders perspective, this makes the subject wearing Subject - 0022 to grow older progressively and gain accurate knowledge of the future consistent with their aging.

Behavioural Assessment 1 When worn by subject A, Subject - 0022 sped up their aging as predicted, and was quoted as screaming they "want to save everyone from the future". When asked to remove the watch, they didn't comply and continued to increasingly be driven towards madness before aging to an untimely death. [FURTHER TESTING APPROVED, PRECEDE WITH CAUTION]

Behavioural Assessment 2 Subject - 0022 was used but this time with an automatic robotic arm to remove the watch when required. Our volunteer was aged for a years worth before the anomaly was removed. The volunteer was noted to be visibly shaken but was able to accurately identify a future event - when unpredictable weather was taking place. [FURTHER TESTING APPROVED]

Behavioural Assessment 3 Following the great success of Behavioural Assessment 2, our aim was to age another volunteer by 5 years. However after Subject - 0022 was put on and our volunteer was aged roughly 4-5 years, they were unresponsive when asked questions and had random burst of uncontrollable spasms and laughing fits. [FURTHER TESTING APPROVED, PRECEDE WITH CAUTION]

4 Origination

This watch was found in Moscow during the fall of the Sicilian Empire. The watch had constantly run fast and it is believed that it was used as a gift to the President-elect of the United States as part of the successful assassination of D. John Newman, possibly by [REDACTED], that destabilized the Western Governments years prior to the cyber-wars.

5 Postscript

5.1 Addendum 1

What follows is an extract of an interview given by our test subject [REDACTED], that was aged a year, to Head of Mental Well-being, Dr. Ramsey.

[START OF TRANSCRIPT]

[29/09, 12:56] Dr. Ramsey: What did it feel like when wearing Subject - 0022?

[29/09, 12:56] [REDACTED]: It was hell, what apparently was a couple of minutes for everyone else was a year for myself...

[29/09, 12:56] Dr. Ramsey: I'm extremely sorry that events turned out the way they did. However, for the sake of this interview, would you mind explaining your thoughts?

[29/09, 12:57] [REDACTED]: It was quite surreal... I was experiencing a version of the future inside my mind, in real time, comparable to a dream state. After the watch was removed from my wrist all I can remember is the longing to wear it again. My memories are fuzzy, like trying to remember a dream.

[29/09, 12:57] Dr. Ramsey: Thank you for that account of events.
